Greetings !

Whereas the frustrations experienced by the rural people, plantation community and low income earning urban people at their role not being properly evaluated in terms of their skills, exceptional abilities and potentials as well as their weaknesses and challenges in a context where during the past period, the local economic strengths had not been subject to due appraisal within the international context, has received the priority attention of the incumbent Government,

And whereas the difficulties, problems and setbacks of the rural low income earning communities are faced with have been more accurately identified based on their own observations through the "Dialogue with the village" and "Vistas of prosperity and splendour",

And whereas the overall economic goals to be achieved by Sri Lanka in the future and development objectives recognized by the United Nation as well as trends forwards increasing poverty and gap between haves and have-nots in the context of the World Economic trends have been clearly identified by the incumbent Government,

And whereas the poverty has been a major drawback in achieving the said development goals for a secure and prosperous nation and that the need has also arisen for strategies to be adopted for empowerment of rural community based on a people-centric economy,

And whereas clear out integrated programmes to be implemented for building the country within the framework of vision under the theme: "A secure country, A land of prosperity, A productive citizen" and "A happy family" has been presented in the policy statement: "Vistas of prosperity and splendour",

And whereas the programme for expanding educational facilities and improving skills and potentials of students as well as health, quality food consumption of the people and environmental conservation have been prioritized,

And whereas it is imperative that an novel approach is established by expanding the access for finance through Banking and Financial Institutions as is deemed appropriate for the rural, plantation and low-income earning people to be directly linked to the process of economic empowerment locally as entrepreneurs by reviving the small and medium scale enterprises through the established Government machinery as Central Government Ministries, District Secretariats and Divisional Secretariats,
